Five Hundred Beloit Workmen Take Steps To Advance Republican Doctrines.

ROOSEVELT NOT TO REPLY AGAIN

General Political Gossip On National Politics--Bryan Finishing Iowa Tour--Houghes In West Virginia--Bonaparte Asked Questions.

Beloit, Sept. 30.—Five hundred shop employees met last evening in the Old Woodward hall to organize a Taft-Sherman republican club. The meeting was marked by enthusiasm and the list of membership shows that fully a thousand men employed in the Linne City factories will be members. After organizing and electing officers the meetings adjourned until Tuesday next.

The officers named were as follows: President, H. M. "Rump"; first vice-president, E. Egbert; second vice-president, L. O. Hall; third vice-president, Luther P. Purvis; secretary, Dewitt C. Becker; treasurer, Ray Robinson.

At the same hour as the Taft meeting Bryan club was formed in the R. C. Hall by seventy democrats and a membership of one hundred.

Will Not Reply

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—Roosevelt will not reply to the latest letter of Bryan, given out by him last night at Rock Island. Secretary Loeb stated today the President felt that much as Bryan's letter was simply an attack upon him personally there was no reason why he should answer it.

Sherman Talks

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 30.—James S. Sherman and Nicholas Longworth addressed three thousand students at the University of Illinois this morning. They were given a rousing reception by the young men who gathered for "Niel" and "Sunny Jim." Later in the day Sherman and Longworth spoke to a large gathering in the city park and then left for Detroit.

ABBOTT SEEKS RIGHT FROM SUPREME COURT

To Have His Name Placed Upon the Republican Ballot For Insurance Commissioner.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., Sept. 30.—The contest for the republican nomination for commissioner of insurance, between George E. Beadle, the present commissioner, and James E. Abbott of Madison, has gone into the supreme court. Mr. Abbott, who after the decision of the state canvassing board in favor of Mr. Beadle, announced that he would not proceed further with the contest, has discovered facts in the returns to make him believe he was rightly nominated and that he will be able to prove his claim in court. He has hired new attorneys and filed a petition in the supreme court. Late yesterday, asking permission to bring suit against Secretary of State Frost to prevent him placing the name of Beadle on the official ballot as the republican nominee. The supreme court is considering the request. Mr. Beadle's majority, as ascertained by the state canvassing board, is only 48 votes. Mr. Abbott carried the third ward of Monroe by a majority of 29 votes but received none of them because the county clerk of Green county refused to correct an error in the returns. Mr. Abbott received 13 votes in a certain precinct in Sauk county, but received none of them because the precinct inspectors made the error of writing the name of "J. E. Gilbert" instead of "J. E. Abbott" in making the returns to the county clerk. If Mr. Abbott gets those votes he will out Mr. Beadle's lead down to 15 votes, and Mr. Abbott will certainly get those votes in a legal action that will go back to the county clerk's offices to the precincts. Then, Mr. Abbott has other favorable information which he has not divulged and his friends declare that he will yet land the nomination.

CLERICAL TRAGEDY IN CITY OF ROME

Third Crime of Kind Within Short Time Has Excited the Inhabitants.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rome, Sept. 30.—The mysterious and brutal murder of Don Costanzo Costantini, a secular cleric of seventy, has greatly excited the people of Rome, as it is the third crime of the kind that has occurred here within a few months. The murdered cleric was found in his bedroom at his lodgings with his skull battered in by a hammer.

In his speeches he is more vigorous than usual. He levelled his attacks on the President for as he charged, interfering in the present campaign and failing to remedy abuses, and on Taft whom he asserted if he was elected would be unable to accomplish any reforms even with a republican congress behind him.

In his speeches he is more vigorous than usual. He levelled his attacks on the President for as he charged, interfering in the present campaign and failing to remedy abuses, and on Taft whom he asserted if he was elected would be unable to accomplish any reforms even with a republican congress behind him.

The poor old priest had evidently been dead several days when the discovery was made, and the bedroom presented a ghastly spectacle. The corpse had been thrown on the floor, and over it was placed a mattress, on which were neatly arranged a rosary and a crucifix. Near the mattress, which was soiled with blood, lay a gory hammer, which had been handled with such ferocity that the victim's head was reduced to pulp. There were no signs of a struggle, and although the murdered priest was fairly well off in bankbooks, money and watch were left untouched.

The police, who hollered the crime was dictated by private revenge, have arrested an Oratorian priest living in an adjoining oratory. He was a constant visitor, and the neighbors declare that he entered the place twice on the morning of the murder, and on quitting the chamber the last time had changed from a priestly cassock into elegant lay attire.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE METHODISTS

Rock River Methodists Met for 80th Annual Meeting Today in Woodstock.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Sept. 30.—The Rock River annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which has the largest membership of any conference in the country, met for its sixty-ninth annual session today at the Woodstock M. E. church. The conference includes the entire northern part of Illinois and is composed of 350 ministers representing a lay membership of 62,000.

The conference will be in session over four days, with Bishop Neely of New Orleans presiding. Among the questions of greatest interest will be the assignment of ministers, the disposition of the troubles arising over Marie Chapel and the political aspects of the labor and temperance questions. Anniversaries of various societies will be held during the conference.

AMERICAN BANKERS HEAR THE REPORTS

Initial Session Given Over to Reports of Officers and Standing Committees.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Denver, Colo., Sept. 30.—With an attendance of prominent financiers and business men from practically every state and territory of the Union, the thirty-fourth annual convention of the American Bankers' association was called to order in the Auditorium this morning by President J. D. Powers. Bishop Olmsted delivered the invocation and Governor Buchtel and Mayor Spire made addresses of welcome.

The initial session, following the welcome and responses, was given over wholly to the reports of the officers and standing committees of the association. Included among the reports were those of Secretary F. E. Farneworth and Treasurer A. A. Crane.

Several other committee reports were presented when the convention reassembled after luncheon and the association then took up the program of addresses and discussions on practical banking questions. The two important addresses of the day were presented by B. E. Walker, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and Dr. Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton university. The address of Mr. Walker dealt with the "American Features of American Banking." President Wilson of Princeton took as his subject, "The Banker and the Nation."

FARMERS' CONGRESS CLOSES ITS SESSIONS

Close Most Successful Session at Madison—Thank Citizens and University.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., Sept. 30.—The Farmers' National congress has completed its sessions and the delegates have scattered over the country. So well planned with the reception and arrangements for the congress in Madison were the delegates that it was seriously proposed to make Madison the permanent headquarters of the congress instead of going to a different city each year. This proposal met with much favor and there was likelihood of carrying it until it was discovered that the constitution of the congress required changing the place of meeting so as to spread the influence of the organization to various parts of the country and not confine it to one section. The sessions have been the most largely attended and interesting of any held in the 20 years that the congress has been holding its annual meetings, declared the officers and life members.

UNIVERSITY OPENED WITH MORE STUDENTS

Enrollment Will Reach Four Thousand and Two Hundred—Rushing Season Begins.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., Sept. 30.—The university of Wisconsin has opened with a larger enrollment than ever before and it is estimated that the total registration this year will reach fully 4,200. Last year it was about 4,000. Many new instructors and six new professors have been secured.

Just now the students are busy getting their fees paid, their classes arranged and their room and boarding house arrangements settled. It is a busy week for the Greek letter fraternities and sororities. They are "blowing themselves" in the usual mad race to gather in the most desirable members.

At the opening of the year the struggle usually is for the financial prizes, the sons and daughters of wealthy parents, for these young men and women are elements of social success for the association.

Of course the fraternities desire to get the students who will sit idle as scholars, as literary and debating stars, or as athletes but in some Greek letter organizations the financial standing of the prospective member is held to be vastly more important than other considerations.

When the new students arrive they are met with gay ivory rigs, they are treated to rides, dances, theaters, spreads, dinners and all manner of pleasant experiences until they are pledged to join the fraternity. Then they have to pay their own way, and next year they will be assessed to pay the expenses of "rushing" the next crop freshmen.

OLD PIONEER DIES AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

T. J. Bragg of Monroe Passes Away at the Advanced Age of Ninety-five.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Monroe, Wis., Sept. 30.—T. J. Bragg, 95 years of age, one of the oldest pioneers in the southern part of the state, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. D. Gorham, Tuesday afternoon. He came to Green county in 1836 and lived on a farm north of this city until 1881 when he moved to Monroe. At one time in his life he owned 700 acres of land in the county.

Ray A. Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Young, and Miss Lillian K. Karlen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kurlen, Jr., were married at the bride's home Tuesday morning, the wedding being the culmination of a romance begun when both principals were children. The bridal couple went to Brodhead from her in C. R. Shelly's automobile and took a train yesterday afternoon from that city for Chicago.

The Bolelt high school football team will play the local high school eleven here next Saturday afternoon. Bolelt played a game with Evansville last year and Monroe defeated Evansville 29 to 0 here last Saturday.

NOVEL HAND TRUCK

Attachment Which Automatically Pulls the Case Onto the Truck.

Among the ingenious devices recently patented is the novel attachment for hand trucks shown in the illustration below. With a truck equipped with this device a man can, with practically no effort, raise a heavy packing case, barrel or article of any description onto the truck, whence he can easily transfer it to the point desired.

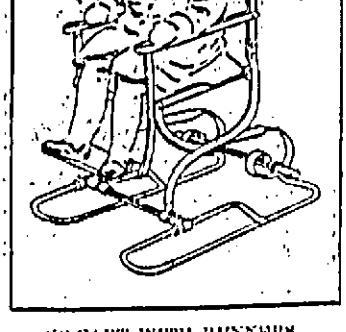

It is well known that articles of great weight, after being placed on a hand truck can be readily moved by one hand, but the latter will often strain himself getting the article onto the truck. Imagine what it means to have the lifting done automatically yet this is what the attachment shown here does. The hook is attached to the case, or whatever the article may be, a lever released, and

RUNNERS FOR GO-CARTS

Can Be Quickly Attached to Axles After Removal of Wheels.

The ordinary folding go-cart, which is generally used on pavements and roads covered with snow, can be easily made valuable for use in such weather by the addition of runners, as shown in the accompanying illustrations. The wheels are readily removed and the runners substituted, the latter being clamped to the point desired.

prote, the case is pulled upon the truck. The chain moves in and out of a holder containing compressed air. When the lever is released the shock of the chain is taken up, pulling the case onto the truck. In addition, the chain prevents the case from tilting forward and falling off as the truck is being wheeled along.

UNIQUE VIOLIN

Addition of Horn Which Greatly Increases Quality and Volume.

Improvements in musical instruments are very rare—in fact, so much so that one of once notable, the pipe organ is shown in the illustration below. This instrument is unique in respect to the ordinary violin, having strings, tuning pegs, etc., and is played with a bow. The addition is made of a portion of a horn, the latter being laid along the front and rear axles. Instead of plodding along with the wheels cutting deeply into the snow, the runners render travel easy and enjoyable. A go-cart thus equipped would also be far superior to a sled, as there would be no danger of the youngster slipping off. Another advantage is the fact that this go-cart can be folded up as formerly, in case the owner desires to ride on railway cars.

NOVEL VIOLIN.

designed to increase the volume of sound and also to preserve its purity. The sounds are collected by the horn before they emerge from the violin, and are emitted in an even, smooth tone—not rasped nor disconnected, as is often the case with the ordinary violin. As with a gramophone, the horn increases the volume of the notes many times. The inventor, a musician, claims that this instrument cannot be equaled for solo work and also orchestra music.

SCIENCE NOTES

An excellent demonstration of the resistance of a concrete structure to severe shock took place recently in Indianapolis, Ind., where two meteors struck the roof of such a structure exploded. Ordinarily such a shock would have been attended by serious damage, but in this case it was confined to the making of two clean holes in the roof—the size of the base of the tanks. The windows of the factory and many of the doors were blown out, but this did not prevent the employees from returning to work 30 minutes after the explosion. The timber gable roof of a city fire-engine house 25 feet from the drums was wrecked, and also a portion of the masonry of the brick building 10 feet from the drums. The roof was of 12-inch tile and 4-inch concrete joints, each reinforced with a bar. The tiles were covered with 1 inch of concrete. The mafetiles were not injured outside the area of the hole blown through the roof. The concrete seemed to be shattered, breaking away from the bars. The roof was restored to its original condition by using the same bars merely bending them back to place.

A large grabhooker of the clam-shell type, having a capacity of seven and a half tons, was recently installed at Allentown, Pa., in connection with a caulk lever hoisting bridge to regulate coal from stockpiles and to feed it through hoppers to an extensive system of belt conveyors.

The basket will handle five to six tons per load, according to the position in which it is suspended on the gash.

Although the basket is large and the amount of coal carried enormous the power required to operate the bridge is comparatively small, since it is noted that this basket is balanced by counterweights.

The problem of taking care of the peak of the load is a matter which has interested electric power station men for sometime. Much care, however, has been expended by the engineers to solve the problem of taking care of the extraordinary demand for current which is experienced at certain hours every day while at other times the capacity of the plant is not approached. In Marion, Ind., the working hours of many establishments have been rearranged for the purpose of taking advantage of the favorable rates offered to such consumers who will agree to shut down each day during the peak of the load period. This time varies according to the season, though from 4:30 to 4:55 P. M. in the first half of October to 4:20 to 4:55 P. M. in the latter part of December. Such a contract keeps the motor load off the station during the time of the peak, and makes the ratio of operating expenses to gross earnings much lower than is usual in central stations of the same size. It is customary to rate the average yearly load at 25 per cent. of the maximum, but at Marion it is 43 per cent. The necessary shophouse rearrangement is not very radical and can be very easily accomplished by smaller establishments.

An entirely new design in the construction of electric lamps has been recently brought out, the novel feature of which is the entire absence, so far as the eye is concerned, of coil wires. One-half of the transformer is fastened to the under side of a table, while the other half of the transformer is incorporated in the base of the lamp standard. By proper transformer design, it is possible to supply the lamps on the standard with electrical energy when both parts of the transformer are placed one above the other. The advantages of such an arrangement are that no holes need be made in the table or coverings for the passage of wires; while the lamp itself can be removed from the table when so desired without disconnecting any wires.

more and more enormous with every revolution. The surface of the mercury becomes troubled as speed increases. It is the centrifugal force which makes the mercury assume the form of a paraboloid and thus the rays of light are brought to a focus as in the concave mirror of a reflecting telescope.

Perhaps the oddest part of the new telescope is the observatory, which, instead of being mounted at right angles toward the stars, is sunk in the earth and the new apparatus is placed at the bottom. One of the most difficult problems before Professor Wood is the securing of even rotation of the disk by electricity without jar and this he has solved.

The apparatus with which he is operating cost only $100, whereas a telescope of the same dimensions would cost between $1,000 and $5,000. When questioned as to results to be expected to obtain and possible discoveries to be made with his great telescope should his new model prove successful Professor Wood wisely refused to commit himself.

MAY BE TROUBLE AHEAD FOR THE STATE BARBERS' BOARD

If Perpetually Engaged from Interfering with H. A. Laymonde, Powers Will Be Curtailed.

When the state barbers' board acting on a report from Mr. McDonald, one of its three members, cited H. A. Laymonde to appear before the injunction last month and show why his license should not be revoked, he retained an attorney and secured a temporary injunction restraining them from further interference. The case will be argued by Atty. Charles Pierce in the October term of court and the effort will be made to secure a permanent injunction.

pent injunction, forever preventing the state inspectors from meddling with the barbers. If this is secured, either the constitutionality of the barbers' board will have to be passed upon by the supreme court, or its powers to enforce rulings will be greatly diminished. It is said that since his encounter with Mr. Whitaker, Mr. German of Kenosha has never paid a license but has continued to run his shop, notwithstanding. It is also alleged that the board has made overtures to Mr. Laymonde, offering to abandon the original proceeding against him on condition that he drop the action in circuit court.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
BY Rose Terrill

Now is the time to buy for next summer. That's no joke, and don't let any "merry man" keep you from doing this very thing. His stories of Mrs. Bargain Hunter are all very well for the foolish women who buy something she will never use, just because it is cheap, but the women who must make a little money go a long way will take advantage of the full sides. If she is wise, white goods for babies that were 25 to 50 cents may now be bought very cheap. Pretty rows and madras that were impossible to buy in limited purse are now going for less than half. It is the time to buy materials for children's dresses and aprons, for children will wear dainty colors, and white, always, and tiny checks and figures are the only ones suitable, so there is no chance of their being behind the fashion. I have found the cry of "fashion" is a just scarecrow anyway. That is, when it is taken in connection with materials for summer clothes. We most of us get the same materials year after year, unless we are of the class that can afford strange and out-of-colors, and combinations, and that lady does not have to read this column, anyway. We can console ourselves with the reflection that the simpler things are better taste. The dainty-colored linens that are so expensive each spring are now within reach of the woman who must economize. I do not mean for anyone to make the garments now. That were folly. But if when spring comes you have the material in hand, it will make the question of the children's clothes and your own a pleasure, instead of a matter over which to be awake. Of course, the woman who never has any money to the needs of the day cannot buy much, but let her make a beginning of turning the expense account around, so as to have money ahead, by cutting somewhere else and spending up a little from the wonderful bargains now being gathered in by the wise woman. Don't buy foolishly. Be sure the thing is something you will not only want, but will need. Put the money you can afford to spend in a corner of your purse, and do not allow yourself to be carried out of your depth by the temptation of lovely goods at cheap prices. I heard a young girl who was hanging over a counter of wifey stuffs for what say?

"If I don't leave here by main force, I will have to go without a fall suit." School begins and the children are happy. Don't think, however, that you could not find it in a long day's search. "Smile and the smile will be reflected back to you an hundred fold." Be of good cheer and your place in the hearts of your friends will be so sure that nothing can dislodge you.

Used Her Information.
In one of the great houses in the west end of London there was a dinner and reception. After a while the maid was called, and the mistress said: "Serve the dinner; there is no one else to come, except a relation of little importance." Five minutes afterward the maid announced in a loud voice: "The relation of little importance."

Presidental candidate Taft has now a man who is running for office received several letters protesting against his well-advertised games of golf at Hot Springs. He has been told that golf is the rich man's game, and something he should not indulge in for good politics sake, etc. Taft received this suggestion good-humoredly, as he has others of a similar nature, and says the position of the mule and making his poor old father walk."

In order to satisfy public opinion, they both got on the mule, and then every one said, "Look at the two of them breaking that poor mule's back."

So they got off, tied the mule's legs and proceeded to carry him upon their shoulders, and then every one said, "The fools."

City of Oplum Users.
In Kerman there is a fearful amount of opium eating and smoking. It is a common saying there that "every fourth man out of three" is an opium smoker, and it is certainly very difficult to find a man who is not a slave to this awful habit. The women, too, resort to it very much, chiefly as a means of ridding themselves of an obnoxious fellow wife, or of ending their own unhappy lives.—Wide World Magazine.

Fine Language.
As a rule the educated natives of West Africa, like their Indian brother, loves high-flown language. A clerk some time ago sent a report complaining that the carbines of the police at his station often misfired; this is how he put it: "It is ridiculous to report that the firearms of the police, when pointed at the armament, refuse to give explosive sound."—London Saturday Review.

A SENATOR'S MAIL

Dear Senator: Please kindly kill the antitrust rebate bill.

We think if you will read it well it will be superfluous to tell our reasons why we look to you for anything that you can do.

Believing you are still on deck for justice, we inclose a check for any services or toll it may entail.

Yours,

STANDARD OIL.

Dear Senator: We look to you to kill house bill 222.

ed not intended for the best.

Which possibly you might have guessed.

If you will call it to the mind in you have served us in the past.

We shall be pleased, dear sir, to stand obedient to your command.

Inclosing check (which please con-

sincerely yours,

UNITED STEEL.

Dear Senator: See if you will the Phillippine free sugar bill!

(We think it is McCoy's or Lane's).

Please kill, and send us its remains.

As we informed you in a wire, there's nothing in it we desire.

And we will thank you if you cause the death of the enacting clause.

Inclosing check made out to date,

The episode of Senator Foraker has had a tendency to weaken confidence in public officials, and however innocent the senator may be, and however much he may explain, the impression is confirmed that every man has his price, and it will be difficult for Senator Foraker to restore confidence in himself.

In the case of Governor Haskell, there is but little credence for surprise, as his past record is not above reproach. Mr. Hearst is doing good work for the nation, in these exposures regardless of whatever motive may prompt him.

The man who trifles with trust funds, usually comes to grief, and the man who speculates with public confidence must pay the penalty when discovered. Many an honest man has been ruined through lack of judgment, and if he happens to be in public service, the searchlight never fails to disclose his weaknesses.

The public conscience is just now in no condition to condone misdeeds of any kind, and the man in public life who escapes censure must be clean and free from all entanglements.

BACK TO THE SOIL.

If there was ever a time in history when the farmer's boy should be content with his lot, that time is now. Why any boy from the country should desire to sacrifice his opportunities, for a menial position in a city store or office, is a question which is difficult of solution.

The six and one quarter million farmers, in the land, are producing this year seven and one-half billion dollars' worth of products. That represents an average income, better by far than enjoyed by men in business, and beats a clerkship out of sight. Edgar Allen Forbes, in the World's Work for October, has an exceedingly interesting article on the value of a year's farming to the United States. The statistics are taken from the annual reports of the government for 1907.

The acreage in corn last year was a scant 100,000,000—three times the area of the state of Wisconsin. The wheat acreage was in round numbers 45,000,000—more than the entire area of the New England states! Hay was gathered from almost as many acres as wheat; 50,000 square miles were plowed with oats, and as much more yielded our cotton crop. The American farmer "grows four out of every five bales of the world's cotton and seven out of every eight ears of corn." If last year's tobacco crop had been turned into cigars, "the supply would have lasted 155,000 men for fifty years, each man smoking ten cigars a day." If all last year's corn crop had been shipped to Europe, "it would have required 4,128 express steamers of 18,000 tons register to deliver it."

If the wheat crop had been sent to the far east to save it from famine, "the largest fleet in the world, with its 336 vessels of all sizes, would have required fifteen round trips to move it."

In addition to the products of the soil, are the animal products our farmers raise? "239,000,000 hogs and 211,000,000 sheep were fattening on the farm last January. If the American milk cows and other cattle could be placed one behind another, they would extend for a distance of 3,000,000 miles. The line of horses and mules would be even longer"—a line of animals from the American farms that would girdle the globe more than 200 times.

The estimated value of our farms with their equipment last year was $28,508,000,000, while the value of the products from these farms was $7,500,000,000—practically 25 cents on the dollar.

It will pay a boy to think twice before he forsakes the farm, and then think again and determine to stay by a business which promises more in the way of health and independence, than any business on earth.

REFORM LEGISLATION.
The republican platform, recently adopted at Madison, endorsed all the erratic reform legislation, adopted at the last session, and the reformers congratulated themselves that there would be no backward movement. This in spite of the fact that several of these monstrosities are now being tested in the courts.

One of them, the 8-hour law, attempting to regulate the service of railway telegraph operators, was declared unconstitutional, by the supreme court, yesterday, on the ground that it conflicted with federal laws which provide for a flexible day varying in length from 9 to 13 hours.

This law, perpetrated by the last legislature, has caused the railroad companies any amount of annoyance and expense. In many cases they have been obliged to abandon telegraph stations, much to their inconvenience, as well as to the public.

The insurance laws which were also endorsed, are under fire, and the companies interested have employed ex-Senator Speer to represent them before the supreme court. They deserve the same fate as the 8-hour law, as do many other reform measures adopted.

It might be well for the next legislature to remember that laws which will not stand the test of investigation, are a burlesque to any state. The nation is suffering today from this sort of futile legislation, and it is about time to call a halt.

Taft has captured the Dakotas, and his flying trip through half a dozen western states has dispelled all doubt as to the success of the republican national ticket in November, so far as the west is concerned. All republican factions are loyal on national issues.

The names of 40 candidates for judges appeared on the primary ballot in Illinois and the first ten were nominated, just as the management planned. About the only requisite for success, in the Wisconsin race, is a name which commences with "A," which calls for a place at the head of the list.

The primary election cost McGovern over $11,000 and he is not a millionaire, but he has the satisfaction of knowing that there is no machine in the state. The money was spent in legitimate advertising, free from talent or corruption. That ought to be counseling.

The fact should not be overlooked that Taft and not Roosevelt, is the republican nominee for president. The former is not taking his pen in hand to hid any scathing epistles, but he is suffering from too much friendly interference.

Rock county cast 67 prohibition votes at the recent primary election. If the balance of the state did as well, it would indicate that candidate Clinton should do a little missionary work at home.

The barometer is working overtime, after a season of prolonged illness, and October promises a variety of weather which will satisfy the most critical.

TWO DAYS IN BED.

(An Actual Experience.)

"No," said grandma; "it's only a little malarkey—a couple of gransies of quinine every two hours and a day or two in bed. No use to send for doctor."

You are deathly sick, and that thump, thump, thump, in your head takes every bit of gimp out of your backbone. You are like the fellow who was scared—first you are afraid you will die, and then afraid you won't.

"His fever is pretty high," says grandma. Bling! Blang! A rush of swirling water! A jingle of spurs and the rush of a charged Egypt Why, Little Egypt! Eternal Egypt, you did that stink at the World's fair. That hideous south sea island keeps pounding on his hollow tree. Will no one on the Midway stop him? Mr. Chairman, this sir, is an outrage, a—

That quiet? It's old as the hills. It must have belonged to you in a previous existence. That wall paper? There's philosophy in that wall paper, Toronto. The little woman selected the pattern. Come to think of it, she bought nearly all the laces and penitentes within range of your vision. She saved the money out of her slender allowance and bought them.

How the hours drag! It is time for introspection. You begin to see things rightly. Life resolves itself into the real, the simple, the elemental things. It is hard on your conscience. You have sometimes forgotten some very plain obligations. For instance: Well, there's the little woman. Do you realize how much of HER is in you? If you have been successful, SHE has made it possible. If you have failed, SHE was faithful. Have you always been to the little woman what you ought to be? And the girl? She often calls you "dear old dad." That means something. And the boy? Think with me, can't you see how he really loves you—he the big bear of a fellow, who likes to romp with you on the floor?

"Yes, I'm better. I think I will get up for breakfast." Your stomach is sweet and wholesome after its forty-eight hour rest. Ah, there was more to that mosquito requirement of regular fast days than your moderns have ever been willing to admit! The quietus has chased the devils out of your brain. When you go down

PLAN FOR COMING CAMPAIGN
MADE THIS MORNING.

COUNTY COMMITTEE MET

R. W. Clarke of Milton is Secretary and Ed. Hanson of Beloit Treasurer.

At eleven o'clock this morning the newly elected Rock county republican committee held their first meeting at the county courthouse and organized for the coming campaign. H. L. McNamara, who has served as county chairman for the past four years, was unanimously re-elected and R. W. Clarke of Milton secretary and Ed. Hanson of Beloit treasurer.

It was decided to have an executive committee of five, to be appointed by the chairman, and meet and decide upon the question of raising the finances for the campaign and settle other business of like nature.

Mr. McNamara will appoint this committee later in the week. Several of the candidates for county offices met with the committee and the question of holding several political gatherings throughout the county discussed. It is the idea of the committee to have speakers of national reputation aid in the state campaign.

Everything is in readiness for the opening performance of the big fairy spectacle, "In Dreamland," to be given at the Myers tomorrow night under the auspices of the Odd Fellowship of this city. The sale of seats has been very large and every thing indicates that the house will be crowded at every performance. The pretty music, lovely costumes, magic movements and interesting story all go to make "In Dreamland" one of the most attractive entertainments ever given here.

APOLLO CLUB.

Members of the Apollo Club are requested to be present at a business meeting of the club at Library Hall at 7:30 o'clock Monday, October 1st. Business of importance will be the election of four directors to fill vacancies caused by the expiration of terms of office of two directors and resignation of two others. It is also the purpose of the meeting to decide on the future plans and work of the club.

MILLINERY OPENING.

At Mrs. O'Brien's millinery opening an especially large assortment of new hats were shown, considering the fact that the opening day had been preceded on account of the sudden change in weather. One striking Director model received much comment on account of its beauty. The hat is of canary blue velvet, trimmed with canary blue bough quills in the wing effect, and larger quills in the new ladder style. The band of the hat is also of canary blue, with an immense gilt buckle, studded with turquoise. The facing is of the same shade of blue velvet, and the brim is wider on the trimmed side.

STATE CONFERENCE OF THE DAUGHTERS

Delegates and Visitors from Local Chapter Go to Ft. Atkinson Today.

Fort Atkinson, which was the scene of several stirring events during the Black Hawk War and possesses several other claims to historic distinction, has the honor of entertaining for two days the annual state conference of the Wisconsin chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The gathering was formally opened today with delegates in attendance from all the chapters in the state.

The regent of the local chapter and one delegate appointed by her will be the regent in the questions to be decided at the conference. The other members of the chapter are invited to attend, but they have no voice in the proceedings of the conference. Mrs. Q. O. Sutherland, who is regent of the local chapter, will be one delegate and Mrs. J. G. Rexford, the vice-president of the local chapter, is the other. Mrs. A. A. Jackson is Mrs. Sutherland's alternate and Mrs. W. G. Wheeler was appointed alternate for Mrs. Rexford. Mrs. O. H. Fethers, who is state regent, will also attend the conference. Other Janesville members who expect to attend are Miss Chittenden, Mrs. Eldridge, Mrs. Kimberley, Mrs. Carpenter, Miss Cowles, Mrs. Dow and Miss Hart.

The conference will be held today and tomorrow and the Janesville ladies went up this morning.

At this meeting the state regent will be placed in nomination for election at the national meeting in April. The other state officers will be elected at the conference at Ft. Atkinson.

The Ft. Atkinson chapter has a membership roll of 158, the second largest in the state. The Fort was chosen for the place of the conference both on account of the size of the chapter and also on account of the historic interest connected with the spot. General Atkinson encamped there and erected a stockade during the famous Black Hawk war, and to commemorate this fact the Fort Atkinson chapter has had a huge boulder bearing a suitable inscription placed to mark the site of the old fort.

ROYAL CLOTHING CO.

TO FURNISH A BOND

As Guarantee That They Are Not Transient Merchants Will Regain Their Six Months.

When the Royal Clothing store at 12 South River street opened for business this morning, certain merchants filed with the city officials a complaint based on the supposition that the newcomers were transient merchants. It is provided by ordinance that merchants who are supposed to be in business here only temporarily must either pay a $10 a day license fee or furnish a $500 bond which is to be forfeited in case they do not continue in business six months and thereby subject themselves to taxation, the same as other tradesmen. It just happens at this time that the latter provision is of no particular value as goods would not be assessable until next May and a firm could stay in business seven months and still escape the assessor. When the authorizer visited the store this morning the proprietor, Edward H. Billie, informed them that he intended to stay in business here permanently. On advice of his landlord, Attorney Fred Durkee, he refused to pay any state license fee, but instead the city officers that he would procure the signatures of Chicago merchants on a bond to be filed at the city hall. City Attorney Maxfield made out the blank form and this will be sent to the metropolis.

OPPOSES GUARANTEE PLAN

TRUST COMPANY SECTION OF BANKERS TAKES ACTION.

Speakers Also Are Against Postal Savings Bank Idea—Officers Elected for Year.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 30.—The trust company section of the American Bankers' Association went on record Tuesday afternoon in opposition to the bank deposit guarantee proposition, making the third subsidiary association of the American bankers to declare itself on this subject.

A motion to vote on the proposition for postal savings banks was defeated. All the speeches made were against the postal savings banks plan, but it was the sense of the meeting that as the savings bank section had already voted against it and as it was scheduled to come up before the general convention, there was no need of the trust section voting on the subject.

The resolution against the guarantee of bank deposits was offered by F. H. Fries of Winston-Salem, N. C., who acted for the legislative committee. The introduction of the resolution precipitated a debate, led by Breckenridge Jones of St. Louis. In the negative, as to whether the section had a constitutional right to consider any proposition not of exclusive interest to trust companies. After parliamentary tangle the resolution carried, 74 to 5.

Officers were elected as follows: President, A. A. Jackson, vice-president Girard Trust Company of Philadelphia; vice-president, H. P. McIntosh, president of the Guardian Savings Trust Company of Cleveland; executive committee, new members, A. L. Abrams of Denver, F. H. Fries of Winston-Salem, Howard Payne of New York, John Stiles of Louisville, E. J. Parker of Quincy.

BIG STRIKE HAS COLLAPSED.

Canadian Pacific Mechanics Seek to Get Their Jobs Back.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 30.—Indications are that the Canadian Pacific railroad mechanics' strike has collapsed. Bill Hardy, who has been conducting the strike from Montreal, arrived in this city Tuesday to confer with Vice-President White, and if possible arrange for the men to be taken back. It is understood that a message was received from the International Labor Federation at Washington advising the men to approach the company immediately with a view to going back.

Confederate Veterans Meet, Beverly, W. Va., Sept. 30.—The West Virginia division of the United Confederate Veterans met here Tuesday in annual reunion in connection with the meeting Wednesday of the monument erected by the Doverley Chapter, No. 267 of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in memory of the 77 confederate soldiers killed at the battle of Rich Mountain, July 13, 1861, and other engagements at various points in this section.

Fatal Auto Crash in Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30.—Miss Katherine Hord, member of a prominent family, was almost instantly killed; Robert Payne, a young society man, was crippled, perhaps permanently, and four other persons were severely bruised when an automobile collided with a street car at Twenty-eighth street and Broadway Tuesday evening.

Double Tragedy in Philadelphia, Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—After plunging a knife three times into the body of his former landlady and hurling her down a flight of stairs Tuesday, Georgia List of this city, believing that he had committed murder, turned the weapon upon himself and inflicted wounds from which he died two hours later. The woman is in a critical condition.

Cloudburst Drowns Eight, Manila, Sept. 30.—A belated official telegram has just been received here which reports that a cloudburst struck the penal colony at Iwahig and that eight persons were drowned, including Harold MacKnight, the superintendent of the farm.

CAREFUL THOUGHT IN YOUR CLOTHING PURCHASES

There comes a time every now and then when it seems proper to offer a few words of advice to clothing buyers and this is one of those times.

There are thrown upon the market at intervals for special sale stocks of clothing which are represented to be high grade, up-to-date in style, etc., and which are generally shoddy, shabby worn, antiquated goods of the cheapest and most undesirable qualities. These stocks are offered at very cheap prices but at any figure usually the purchaser pays too much.

We speak of these matters because many seekers for bargains really do not give thought to the proposition and are led through the lure of high sounding offers into buying clothing which is not up to grade.

In this clothing stock, representing many thousands of dollars of investment, you have opportunity for selecting from the very newest and best which the market affords and adds from that you are secure in your purchase, knowing that we are permanent and that every article sold is put out under a guarantee. The prices are always low considering qualities. You can for $12 buy a suit here that measures up full in value from every point, all new this fall stock, too. We are not here for a few weeks only, but are ready and willing to adjust any complaint at any time. Think well before you purchase elsewhere.

AMOS REHBERG & CO.

WE knew the women of Janesville would feel the importance of attending our Grand Exploitation Sale and Exposition of Gossard Corsets.

But we were not prepared for the unusual interest they have shown. They have found out for themselves the special distinctive points of the Gossard Corsets, and they are many.

No woman can really know without seeing the Gossard Corset just how perfectly this easily-adjustable, front-lacing corset adapts itself to every movement of a woman's figure, and, still, how it improves her figure.

THE GOSSEND CORSETS

are the only corsets that absolutely conform to the arch of the spine—thus insuring the fashionable habit back with side and front lines in perfect artistic harmony.

The Gossard has special advantage in the graceful slope and slim hip-fitting effect—producing the long, willowy outlines of girlhood, even in the mature.

It avoids the well known disadvantages of back-lacing corsets. There are no Steele to irritate, nor rivets to tear the flesh, no unsightly and unpleasant bunches of strings in the back.

The Gossard laces, as it should, in the front. There the lacing is soft and comfortable, while the spine, instead of being irritated, is supported. Free play is given to the vital organs, deep breathing is permitted and full comfort enjoyed.

Dressmakers everywhere favor the Gossard Corset, because it gives them perfect figures to fit.

Physicians prescribe the Gossard Corset, because it is positively hygienic.

Be sure to come in before the week is done. We want you to know Mrs. Brown. We want her to demonstrate to you just what the Gossard will do for you.

May we expect you?

ARCHBOLD TELLS OF LETTER THEFTS

HOW HEARST GOT STANDARD OIL CORRESPONDENCE.

TAKEN BY AN EMPLOYEE

Former Senator McLaurin Defends His Relations with the Big Trust—Bryan Replies to the President.

New York, Sept. 30.—A new phase of the discussion of the so-called "Standard Oil correspondence" made public recently by William R. Hearst was entered upon late Tuesday when John D. Archbold, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, made a statement to the Associated Press setting forth details of the alleged theft of correspondence from his files.

Former United States Senator John Lowndes McLaurin of South Carolina also entered the field with a signed statement declaring his attitude in the matter of the correspondence between himself and Mr. Archbold.

How Letters Were Obtained.

Mr. Archbold said:

"In response to many inquiries as to the theft of letters from my files, the following may be made known:

"Over three years ago a report reached me that certain of my letters had been offered for sale to newspapers of this city, avowedly as stolen letters. Examination showed that some letters were missing and that they could only have been taken by someone not only familiar with the office details, but highly trusted. The party on whom suspicion fell stoutly denied all guilt. A little later, however, a man who represented himself as acting between the thief and those to whom the letters had been sold, proposed to return some of the letters for a consideration. His story was that the idea of the theft had been conceived by his brother, who had at one time been in the company's employ, and that this brother had induced the employee already suspected to accomplish the theft."

McLaurin's Statement.

Former Senator McLaurin gave out a signed statement regarding the correspondence between himself and Mr. Archbold in which he said:

"An effort has been made to create a political sensation by the publication of certain correspondence between Mr. John D. Archbold, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, and myself. For that correspondence I have no apologies to make. At the time the letters were written I had the honor to enjoy, and am proud still to possess, the friendship of Mr. Archbold, for whom I have the highest regard. At the time the letters were written I was engaged in a bitter struggle in which was involved not only my own political future, but the economic and political principles for which I stood, and which, stated briefly, meant the emancipation of the south from the ignorant prejudice of bourbonism and the 'bloody shirt' into the freedom of an enlightened self interest and the progress of an intelligent industrialism."

Defends His Action.

"In the support of these principles, and the hope of this progress, I saw then no impropriety in enlisting, if practicable, the assistance of the most progressively administered, and the most intelligently offered corporation that human intelligence has yet produced. Nor has the enormous body of statutory crime since created or the hypocritical affection of morality assumed by some of our legislatures and congress in any wise changed my point of view or quickened my conscience of expediency as seems to have been the case with some of my former colleagues and associates."

"The constituencies that they represent do not hesitate to take Mr. Carnegie's trust-produced and tariff-protected money for their churches and libraries, or to accept Mr. Rockefeller's largess for the education of the negro whom they have disfranchised."

Mr. Bryan to the President.

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 30.—"I have lived in vain if your accusations lost me a single friend," said William J. Bryan in a letter addressed Tuesday to President Roosevelt, replying to that of the president, written Sunday last.

Mr. Bryan points to his record and declares that it is a sufficient answer to the insinuations of the chief executive that he is in sympathy with or controlled by the trusts.

Reverting to the charges against Gov. Haskell, Mr. Bryan says that the president, in response to his request, did not deign to suggest a tribunal which could determine those charges, but instead proceeded to pass judgment upon him, and to inform the president that the occupant of that high office cannot deny to the humblest citizen the right to protect his reputation and vindicate his name in the courts.

Fall Army Maneuvers End.

Port Benjamin Harrison, Ind., Sept. 30.—The annual fall army maneuvers and camp of instruction ended Tuesday. The troops of the Wisconsin National Guard and the Twenty-eighth United States Infantry began entraining while the Kentucky and Michigan troops were maneuvering with the other regulars.

SENSATION IN CONGRESS

Yearly Cost of White Plague, Says Speaker is a Billion Dollars—Dr. Bartel Discusses Routes of Infection.

Washington, Sept. 30.—That 5,000,000 people, now living in the United States, are doomed to fill consumptives' graves unless something is done to prevent it, was the startling declaration of Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale university in an address on "The Cost of Tuberculosis" before the International Congress on Tuberculosis Tuesday. Prof. Fisher's address, which was the feature of the day, created a sensation among the hundreds who listened to his statements.

White Plague Costs Billion.

Prof. Fisher further declared that the 138,000 persons who die of consumption annually in this country cost, in hard cash, over $1,000,000,000 a year.

In section one, in which it is expected the most of the scientific discussions and discoveries will develop, there was a discussion of great importance to the congress at Tuesday morning's session, when Prof. Calmette of Lille, France, director of the Pasteur institution, advanced the theory that tubercle bacilli are taken into the system by swallowing.

Heretofore inhalation has been considered the principal method of contracting consumption. Infection by inhalation was warmly defended by Prof. Tendolo of Holland.

Heller Reads a Paper.

First Assistant Surgeon Victor G. Heller of the United States public health and marine hospital service and director of health of the Philippines Islands, read an interesting paper in which he asserted that in tropical countries, where tuberculosis and hook-worm disease prevail, elimination of the hook-worm produced better results in diminishing the mortality from tuberculosis than any other measure that has yet been tried on a large scale.

Routes of Infection.

Dr. Julius Bartel of Vienna, discussing the routes of infection, said: "The infection from pharynx, stomach and intestines is far more frequent, particularly during early life, than has generally been considered. Of less importance, as compared with general hygiene regulations, is the constant doubt concerning the more frequent mode of infection whether due to swallowing or inhalation, inasmuch as it is difficult to judge the relative effects of deglutition and aspiration."

Dr. Bart of Berlin Talks.

Dr. Carl Bart of Berlin, in his views on the subject of predisposition of the apices of the lungs to pulmonary tuberculosis, declared that aside from infection, the cause of pulmonary tuberculosis in youthful individuals is to be sought in an individual predisposition due to anatomical and functional disturbances of the normal conditions around the superior aperture of the thorax. The final outcome of this battle between the tubercle bacilli and the body depends on the degree of the functional disturbance, he declared.

DAVIS HELD FOR MURDER.

Suspect in Rustin Case Released on $10,000 Bail.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 30.—Following a five-days' legal battle before Police Judge Crawford, Charles Edward Davis was bound over to the district court Tuesday to answer the charge of murder in the first degree for the killing of Dr. Frederick Rustin on the morning of September 2. Bail was fixed at $10,000, which was promptly furnished by two brothers of the defendant, and the accused man was permitted to go, although he will remain in charge of a guard which has been retained by the Davis family.

Honor Paid to Life-Savers.

New York, Sept. 30.—Ninety-three heroes who within the last year have saved the lives of drowning persons in the waters around New York were presented with medals or certificates of honor Tuesday at the city hall by the United States Volunteer Life-Saving corps. Ten-year-old Minnie Richardson of Brooklyn was the idol of the occasion. The girl risked her life to save a girl from drowning in Gravesend bay.

Bold Robbery in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Concealing himself in the vault of the office of the W. D. Allen Manufacturing company, 1095 Western Avenue, Tuesday afternoon, thief stole $700 after committing a murderous assault on Henry Gibbs, the superintendent. The robber struck Mr. Gibbs on the head with a revolver when he opened the door of the vault to get the money.

Veteran Washington Messenger Dies.

WINDS UP WITH A BIG MEETING AT SIOUX CITY, IA.

FACTIONS ARE ALL UNITED

Opposed Locally, They Support National Ticket—Republican Candidate Arrives in Home City of His Rival.

Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 30.—Tariff revision, mostly downward, but in some instances upward—notably on pottery—was the keynote of Candidate Taft's ten speeches Tuesday. In none of them did he forget to "go after" his Nebraska opponent.

The Olson's campaign through South Dakota terminated here Tuesday night, where he addressed a tremendous audience from the four states of Iowa and Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota. The meeting was held in the immense train shed of the Union passenger station and was attended only, in the day's trip from Aberdeen, by the two meetings held at Mitchell.

Of the day Mr. Taft said: "I have enjoyed every minute of it. Despite the tax on my voice the speaking has been easy because I have felt a sympathetic inspiration from every audience."

All Factions Support Him.

Senator Kittredge met the Taft train at Mitchell and made public assurances of his continued support of the ticket. Senator Gamble, his factional opponent, and Congressman Burke and Martin joined the train at Aberdeen, as did other state politicians, leaving no Republican faction in South Dakota unrepresented in the demonstration of approval of the national ticket.

Heller Reads a Paper.

These incidents, and the assurances to the candidate from those in touch with the South Dakota situation, Mr. Taft said, were most satisfactory evidence of the value of his trip.

Besides Mitchell and Sioux City the largest crowds of the day were at Aberdeen and Yankton, the latter the home of Senator Gamble.

Judge Taft slept in his private car on a quiet sitting at South Sioux City. With nine or ten speeches in Nebraska, he reached Lincoln, the home of Mr. Bryan, at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Gervode Talks at Terre Haute.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 30.—Explaining the policy of the Republican party in reference to capital and labor, and recounting the legislation in the interests of the working classes, Senator A. T. Beveridge of Indiana Tuesday night delivered the second of his replies to William J. Bryan. Senator Beveridge was greeted by an enthusiastic audience of more than 3,000.

Cannon Meeting at Danville.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 30.—This place was the scene of an unusual demonstration Tuesday night when four members of congress, one of whom is the Republican vice-presidential nominee, James S. Sherman, delivered addresses plauding with the voters of this section of the Eighteenth congressional district to re-elect to congress Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, who has been their representative for 35 years. While ostensibly the meeting was a Republican rally in behalf of the national ticket and special trains brought hundreds of people here from Champaign, Terre Haute, Tuscola, Waukegan and other nearby points to hear the speech-making and see the huge torchlight parade, the event resolved itself into a genuine boom for "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

Storm on Lake Superior.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 30.—Lake Superior has been lashed by the worst storm of the season, and one of the most severe ever known in this section. The wind at the ship canal during the night attained a velocity of nearly 40 miles an hour, while at Houghton, which is sheltered by high hills, it reached 26 miles an hour.

GAVE RECEPTION TO DEPARTING MEMBERS

Huge Yields Reported Not borne Out by Actual Experience According to Expert Testimony.
Rock county farmers, together with wheat growers the country over, were much interested in the reports of the wonderful Alaska wheat which would yield two hundred bushels to the acre under ordinary conditions and even more where climatic conditions were right. The reports sent out relative to this wonderful cereal were widespread and the Consolidate Publicity Bureau of St. Paul took pains to investigate the discrepancy. In their report the following facts were found which entirely dispel the dress of using worn out farms to raise this crop with and brings the new wheat down to the level of ordinary cereals.

"Alaska wheat," according to the official report of Dr. E. Hyslop, agronomist of the university of Idaho, will never become an important or revenue-producing addition to American cereals. This verdict follows much discussion of the new grain and its direct variance with the statements of E. H. Hale, Norwegian consul at St. Paul, who was one of the experimenters and originators of Alaska wheat.

Prof. Hyslop's report states that the high yields credited to the new grain are not borne out in fact. He states that the new grain, he believes, is a variety of Egyptian wheat, closely related to the seven-headed variety. With reference to yield, Prof. Hyslop says:

"Two high yields claimed for this wheat, in some cases 277 bushels to the acre, are fabulous." Mr. Adams and Mr. Hobe produced on a 30 acre tract near Moscow, Idaho, this year, an average of 32 bushels per acre. Upon our request the company has promised to have a milling test made soon. Until this test is completed we must assume that the new wheat will make no better flour under the name of "Alaska wheat" than it did when known as "Miracle wheat," and I am led to believe that they are the same."

Other facts secured by Prof. Hyslop indicate that the information given out by Mr. Adams and Mr. Hobe as a result of their experiments, was highly colored, at least, and based on wrong premises.

The grain, Prof. Hyslop states, is yet of doubtful flour-making qualities, and the heavy yields claimed are predicated on what sample plants have done, and not upon actual averages taken from the results of harvest on a large tract.

AN-INTIMATE STUDY OF NAPOLEON LAJOIE, THE BIG FIGURE IN THE GREAT AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT RACE.

Lajoie is quite generally given the title of America's foremost baseball player. He is a consistent player and a strong batter, and without a shadow of a leader. He impresses his men with winning confidence. For years the fans of America have seen Cleveland creep up to the flag and then just fall off the finish. It is strongly probable that 1908 will see Lajoie accomplish the dream and hope of the year?

I wish it were conventional to mention names in speaking of the deeds of men in business instead of speaking of them by fictitious names in referring to them as a "certain party," but as I cannot change the conventions I must adhere to them.

However, a certain party, call him Mr. Wright, called for me saying that he wanted to insert an advertisement and wanted to have me look into the proposition, see it myself and make notes from his remarks about the conditions and then prepare the advertisement. At 9:00 A. M. I started out; in an hour I had been over the ground and had my notes; in another hour the advertisement was prepared. Before preparing the ad, I asked Mr. Wright how much he was willing to spend on the advertisement. His reply was exactly what it should be: "Spend as much money as is required to tell the whole story."

I did that, just that and no more. It took one thousand one-hundred and fourteen words and cost Mr. Wright $30.00 for one insertion in the Daily Gazette and one insertion in the Semi-Weekly.

New Watch the Result.

Mr. Wright came into the office to make arrangements for more space and volunteered the statement that this one ad, had brought him $2,800.00 worth of business and that one man said he read the one thousand one hundred and fourteen words over six times to absorb all the good there was in them.

If any present advertiser or prospective advertiser is interested enough to care to look into this matter I will be glad to furnish him a copy of the advertisement and further information for verifying these statements.

Does not this instance prove our contention that if you have a marketable article, or proposition, or service that you want to sell to the public, and will tell a full and complete story to practically all the consumers in Rock county and vicinity through the advertising columns of the Gazette it will pay you handsomely on the investment? Conditions vary in every line of business and advertising must be adapted to the conditions surrounding your business and your advertising will be profitable to you only in so far as it is properly adapted to conditions.

If you are interested in taking up the matter of advertising a phone call will bring me to talk the matter over with you.

CHAPTER XV.

The Price.

Slowly Matthland returned to the study and replaced the lamp upon his desk; and stood briefly in silence, long fingers stroking his well-shaped chin, his face a little thin and worn-looking, a gleam of pain in his eyes. He sighed.

So she was gone!

He laughed a truce harshly. This surprise was nothing more than he might have discounted, of course; he had been a fool to expect anything else of her, he was enjoying only his just deserts both for having dared to route? A very much mystified young man sat himself down again in front of his desk, and turned the bag over and over in his hands, keenly scrutinizing every inch of it, and whistling softly.

So she was gone, without a word, without a sign!

He sat down at the desk, sideways, one arm extended along its edge, fingers drumming out a dreary little tune on the hard polished wood; and thought it all over from the beginning. Nor spared himself.

Why, after all, should it be otherwise? Why should she have stayed? Why should he compliment himself by believing that there was aught about him visible through the veneer acquired in a score and odd years of purposeless existence, to attract a young and pretty woman's heart?

So she was gone, without a word, without a sign!

Do You Do Your Own Work?

Yes? Then You Should Use
P. & G. Naphtha Soap.

It is just what you need.

It is a time-saver, a money-saver and a labor-saver.
It does better work, with cold or lukewarm water, than ordinary laundry soap and hot water.

Buy a cake. Try it.

You will find that it will make the clothes cleaner, sweeter, brighter, whiter than they ever were before—in half the time and with half the effort it now takes.

Use it in the kitchen—for the dishes, for the floors, for painted walls, for pots and pans. It is just as valuable for such purposes as for washing clothes.

It is a hard soap and a cake of it will do a remarkable amount of work. It is a white soap and can be used for any number of purposes for which yellow soaps are unsafe and unsatisfactory.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Right side-down in curtain.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Sept. 30, 1908.—A Good Day's Work.—One day this week 123 carloads of freight were shipped from this point on the Northwestern road. We call that a comfortable day's work, certainly.

A Small Runaway.—Two men with a double team drove in to the river near Filfield's lumber yard where one of the men stepped forward on the wagon tongue to take off the check roll. The horses took freight and started to run throwing the man down between them. Some persons near stopped them before any serious harm was done to the man or the team.

Some Stamps.—We were today shown by the Register of Deeds an instrument conveying the Milwaukee & Prairie du Chien road to Milwaukee & St. Paul company, plastered over with 92 $50 stamps and two $200 stamps. In all $6,000. This deed has to be recorded in every county through which the road passes.

A Washington special says that Jeff Davis will certainly be brought to trial at the next term of the circuit court, in Richmond, as attorney general Myrte is actively pushing the matter. We shall believe this statement when we see it verified but will take no stock in it until then.

The taxable value of real and personal property in Chicago, according to the return of the assessors, is $228,448,879. As the taxable value is increased upon a basis of less than one-third of the real value, the actual value of real and personal property in Chicago, falls very little if any, short of seven hundred millions of dollars.

In 1886 the assessed valuation was $83,843,057; last year it was $192,249,644; and this year it is $228,448,879, giving a fair idea of the wonderful and rapid growth of that city.
